Military Parade and Public Procession Highlight the WPK's 70th Anniversary

With festive atmosphere pervading the whole country, a military parade and civilian procession took place at Kim Il Sung Square in Pyongyang on October 10 to celebrate the 70th anniversary of the Workers' Party of Korea.

In his speech he pointed out that the history of the WPK is just the path travelled by the great people, its might is their might, its greatness is their greatness, and its victory is the victory achieved by them. He also stressed that the genuine feature of the WPK will be expressed in the appearance of the country that is transformed under its leadership and in the looks of the people who always smile happily.

Noting that the people are the most precious as they constitute the foundation of the country, and nothing is more sacred than their interests, he said the WPK will cherish the people's sincere loyalty to it as the greatest asset of the revolution and bring earlier everything splendid of the future by shouldering all the burdens and clearing a thorny path for the sake of its brave, resourceful and beautiful people.

Kim Jong Un cuts the tape to inaugurate the Paektusan Hero Youth Power Station in October Juche 104 (2015)

A Present Made by Young People for the WPK

Paektusan Hero Youth Power Station was inaugurated in early October, adding brilliance to the 70th anniversary of the founding of the Workers' Party of Korea and demonstrating the might of the WPK's policy of attaching importance to young people. It is a proud structure in Songun Korea and a symbol of youth power.

The inauguration ceremony was attended by officials of the WPK and the Kim Il Sung Socialist Youth League, officers and members of the Paektusan Hero Youth Shock Brigade, soldier-builders of the Korean People's Army, other construction workers, and the officials of the armed forces and public organs that contributed to the construction project.

Kim Jong Un, First Secretary of the Workers' Party of Korea, First Chairman of the National Defence Commission of the DPRK and Supreme Commander of the Korean People's Army, attended the event and delivered a historic speech.

Saying that the construction of the gigantic power station that demonstrates the indomitable mettle of the young people in the Songun era is a great event that adds brilliance to the 70th anniversary of the founding of the glorious Party and promises a bright future of our dignified state, he continued as follows:

The Party Central Committee highly appreciates our trustworthy young people, who have proved through their painstaking efforts and self-sacrificing struggle that our Party's determination immediately means a reality and materialization, and demonstrated to the whole world the might of the young vanguard in the Songun era.

Availing myself of this meaningful opportunity, I extend to all the builders including the members of the Paektusan Hero Youth Shock Brigade and the service personnel of the People's Army, who have performed great feats of labour in the building of the power station, warm thanks and militant greetings in the name of the Workers' Party of Korea and together with the blessing of General Kim Jong Il who valued young people and gave prominence to them.

Kim Jong Un sees a grand army-people youth chorus Following the Marshal to the End of the Earth, held in celebration of the inauguration of the power station in October Juche 104 (2015)

Noting that to review the course of building the power station, the Party was most pleased about the fact that the young people had armed themselves with one ideology and achieved more solid unity as intended by the great General, rather than the construction of the dams and the possibility of easing the strain on electric power in the Mt Paektu area, he called upon them to dash forward towards a bright future, the Party Central Committee believing in young people and they believing in it on the worthwhile onward march to achieve the prosperity of the country, the motherland, a precious inheritance of the great Comrades Kim Il Sung and Kim Jong Il associated with their lifelong struggle.

All the participants in the event, brimming over with great excitement, made the pledge of adding glory to the proud history and traditions of the Juche-oriented youth movement through decades and generations under the leadership of the great Party and demonstrating to the whole world the indomitable fighting spirit and heroic mettle of the Korean youth.

Kim Jong Un cut the tape to inaugurate the power station and had a photograph taken with the youth shock brigade members, builders and service personnel who took part in the project.

He also saw a grand army-people youth chorus Following the Marshal to the End of the Earth, which was performed in front of the dam of power station No. 1, bearing the image of a torch and letters "Heroic Youth."

The performance stressed the idea that as there is a legion of young people who have grown up in the embrace of the motherly Party that highly treasures them and spares nothing for them and who have been tempered in the crucible of the Songun-based revolution the Korean revolution is ever-victorious.

After the performance was over, dazzling fireworks display decorated the night sky over the Paektu area, celebrating the great victory the heroic young Koreans achieved on the occasion of the October holiday.

Kim Jong Un looks round the completed Mirae Scientists Street in October Juche 104 (2015)

Mirae Scientists Street, a Monumental Structure in the Songun Era

Mirae Scientists Street was newly built on the bank of the picturesque Taedong River in Pyongyang, as a monumental structure of Juche-oriented architecture of the DPRK.

The street is a benevolent gift the Workers' Party of Korea presented to educationists and scientists on the occasion of its 70th anniversary.

It owes much to energetic leadership and solicitude of supreme leader Kim Jong Un who considers people's well-being to be absolute and the highest priority and puts forward educationists and scientists as genuine patriots and revolutionaries.

The supreme leader advanced the plan of building a modern street for educationists and scientists, personally designated the site on the spot, clarified tasks and ways by stage and sent powerful construction forces.

True to his noble intention, the service personnel of the Korean People's Army and other builders worked day and night to finish the first-stage project before the Day of the Sun in April and the second-stage project in October on the occasion of the Party anniversary.

In October Kim Jong Un looked round the Mirae Scientists Street that was built as befits a street of a civilized socialist nation, and said that it was so fantastic and magnificent, describing the street as a showpiece of the Party's idea of attaching importance to science and talents, a masterpiece of architecture that perfectly combines Juche character, national identity, originality and formative and artistic beauty, and a Korean-style icon of Pyongyang that came into being in the golden age of civilization.

Noting that high-rise buildings and structures in the street are the crystallization of the policy of prioritizing, respecting and loving the people pursued by the Party that believes them as in heaven, he said full of emotion that the street will show anybody who wants to know how the Party gives highest priority to the development of science and technology among all state affairs and see how the DPRK is building by dint of science a people's paradise, a thriving country, the only one in the world.

He continued to say that the opening of the new street when the 70th anniversary of the glorious WPK was celebrated as the most auspicious revolutionary holiday was a grand manifestation of the justness of the Party's idea on architectural aesthetics and potentialities of the country's self-supporting national economy, as well as an event of displaying once again the might of single-hearted unity of Songun Korea that turns out as one in response to the call of the Party.

Built in the short time of one year, which is quite inconceivable judging from the existing method of construction, the street is excellent in architectural aesthetic beauty and convenience.

There are thousands of flats and over 150 public service facilities. High-rise buildings and apartment blocks built in unique style nestle in harmony along the Taedong riverside.

The 53-storey apartment building, on top of which stands a landmark tower symbolic of the street, is modelled after electronic orbit.

Mirae Scientists Street, fairyland in the era of the Workers' Party, is a convincing display of the WPK's idea of prioritizing science and talents and the might of socialist Korea, and instils great pride and honour into the Korean army and people.

Rason Undergoes Tremendous Change

Kim Jong Un visits Paekhak-dong in the Sonbong area of Rason in October Juche 104 (2015)

A miracle of turning misfortune into a blessing was worked out in October in Rason in the northern part of Korea.

Some areas of Rason, including Sonbong area, were hit by flood caused by heavy rain in August. Many dwelling houses and public buildings, and a dozen bridges were destroyed, railway transport, communications and electricity supply suspended temporarily, a considerable area of farmland inundated and washed away, and reservoirs demolished.

Supreme leader Kim Jong Un saw to it that the rehabilitation of the flood-damaged city was discussed as the first agenda item at the enlarged meeting of the Central Military Commission of the Workers' Party of Korea held on August 27, in which strategic issues related to national defence, top-priority in all state affairs, are discussed. And he issued an order of the Supreme Commander of the Korean People's Army to make the army take full charge of the work and complete it before the 70th anniversary of founding the WPK.

He also provided on-site guidance for the rehabilitation of the city in September, saying that he was sleepless worrying about the flood victims who had been left homeless and so he came there to acquaint himself with the rehabilitation work.

Encouraging the KPA service personnel who were displaying the revolutionary soldier spirit and making achievement in rehabilitation project, he called upon them to turn the Sonbong area in Rason into a people's paradise befitting a civilized socialist nation.

Out of determination to translate into reality the supreme leader's affection for people, the service personnel pushed ahead with the rehabilitation day and night, thus building over 1 300 dwelling houses in Paekhak-dong of Sonbong within a month and completely facelifting the Rason area.

Being informed that the rehabilitation of Rason was completed successfully on the eve of the Party founding anniversary, the supreme leader ensured that lots of consumer goods were provided to the residents in the afflicted areas and visited the area again.

Looking round the dwelling houses in Paekhak-dong in Rason, he was very satisfied with the fact that another fairy-like village sprung up in a matter of only 30 days. Noting that it was a miracle of turning misfortune into a blessing which could only be performed by the KPA service personnel endowed with loyalty to the Party and love for the people, he had a photograph taken with tens of thousands of soldier-builders.

Thanks to noble love for the people cherished by the supreme leader who visited the area again and again so as to provide his people with comfortable living, a new legend of love was made in the Rason area.

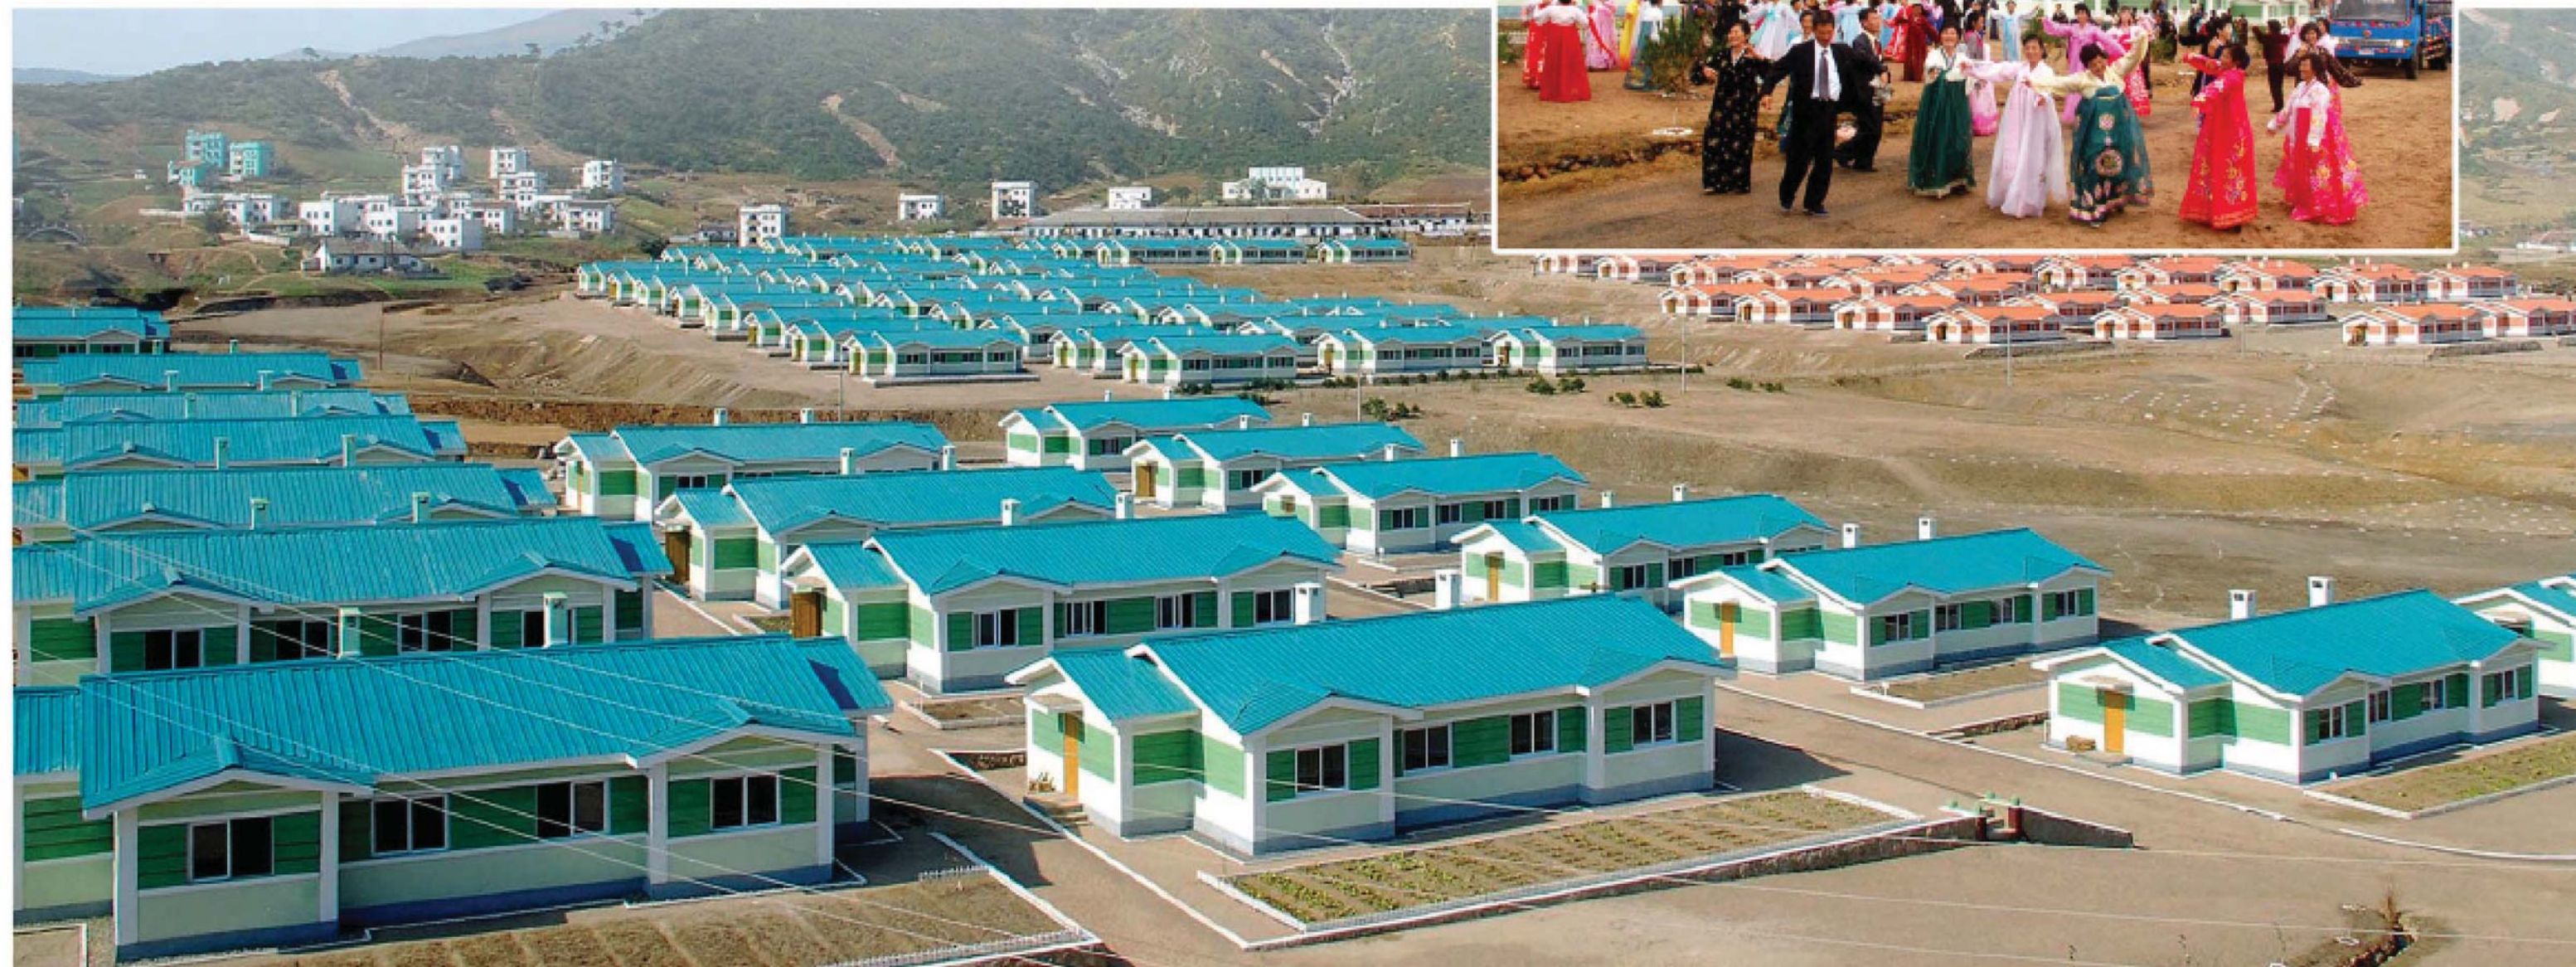

The people in the afflicted area, who moved to their new houses on the eve of the Party founding anniversary, expressed their heartfelt thanks to Kim Jong Un and shouted "Long live the Workers' Party!" and "Long live socialism!"

Finding his happiness and delight in those enjoyed by his people, Kim Jong Il continuously visited them throughout his life and left many anecdotes of touching affection.

When he visited Taehongdan County on the northern tip of the country he complied with the wife of an ex-soldier to name a baby to be born; while visiting a family at Kilju County in North Hamgyong Province, he asked the child about future ambition and told the parents to bring up the children finely.

For his solicitude, all the Korean people called him their dear father and entrusted him entirely with their destiny.

Though time passes, the benevolent image of Kim Jong Il will remain for ever in the hearts of the Korean people as well as his revolutionary career.

Eternal Father of the Korean People

December has become the month of great yearning the Korean people have for the peerlessly great man of the nation since Kim Jong Il, eternal leader of the nation, had passed away unexpectedly on December 17, Juche 100 (2011).

Kim Jong Il who cherished a noble view on people made painstaking efforts for his people throughout his life.

Saying that he should do more for his people who are the best in the world, but was impatient as time passed, Kim Jong Il visited everywhere in the country, whether it be out-of-the-way or unpopulated, to meet his people, including ordinary workers and farmers.

In July Juche 90 (2001) Kim Jong Il dropped in at a farmer's house while providing field guidance at a fish farm in Poman-ri, Sohung County, North Hwanghae Province.

Like a father who paid a visit to his children's newly established home, he got familiar with their living conditions and even told them to do kitchen garden farming well, growing fruit trees and kidney beans in the environs of houses. Then he warmly told them to write him when the electrification was realized and all the housekeeping, including cooking and heating, done with electricity.

In January Juche 98 (2009) he visited the house of a worker at Wonsan Youth Power Station.

He looked at the wedding photograph of the couple, discharged soldiers of the Korean People's Army, and balls of soybean malt hanging on the wall and said he would taste the bean paste made of the malt. In the kitchen, he even counted the number of bowls in the cupboard and said to the worker's wife, who was expecting a child a few months later, that the kitchen bowls

Supreme Commander Kim Jong Un of the KPA meets women pilots of supersonic jet in June Juche 104 (2015)

Supreme Commander and Women Pilots

The news about the first women pilots of supersonic jet spread throughout the DPRK in June, producing euphoria among the people.

The birth of girl pilots like flowers in full bloom over the sky of Songun Korea is writing a new page in the army building history of the country, which is associated with undying exploits brilliant Songun commanders performed in developing the Korean People's Army into invincible armed forces that reliably safeguard the socialist motherland and its people.

Kim Jong Il, eternal Chairman of the National Defence Commission of the DPRK, who ensured that all the service personnel were prepared into match-for-a-hundred combatants, paid deep attention to training women pilots.

He encouraged girl pilots with trust and affection, highly appreciating that the Korean women are strenuous enough to pilot the plane as well as men. He had the first women's flight group formed in February Juche 82 (1993). During his Songun-based revolutionary leadership he inspected the group to see their drills and take care of their living conditions.

One December day he visited a unit of the then air force and met a girl who became the pilot following her parents. Expressing satisfaction with her, he spoke highly of her deed that it was a manifestation of ardent love for the motherland.

Supreme Commander Kim Jong Un of the KPA, true to the noble intention of the Chairman, put forward a plan of training women pilots and energetically led its implementation.

In November last year he personally guided the solo training of taking off and landing executed by Jo Kum Hyang and Rim Sol, women interceptor pilots. After their flight training was over, he met them to congratulate on their successful training. Saying that he had given the task of training women interceptor pilots a few months previously, he was very delighted to see the fine women pilots and praised them for displaying indomitable will and unyielding spirit of the Korean women.

When he saw the flight training of the KPA Air and Anti-aircraft Force in January this year, he spoke highly of their high manoeuvring skills again and repeatedly told them to become ace pilots.

In June he went to the airport to see Jo Kum Hyang and Rim Sol flying supersonic jets and demonstrating excellent flying skills. He said that they were such admirable young girls and flowers bloomed in the sky and was greatly satisfied with the fact that women supersonic jet pilots were born for the first time in the country's army building history.

Designating the day as the day of birth of women pilots of supersonic jets, he continued to say that the whole country, particularly women, would be glad at the news and that the women pilots were laudable daughters of the country and the people, and indomitable women revolutionaries.

Keeping in their mind the trust and affection of the Supreme Commander who put forward them as filial daughters of heroic Korea and flowers in the sky of Songun Korea, Jo Kum Hyang and Rim Sol are making redoubled efforts to live up to their pledge of defending the leader unto death.

Image of Eternal Bodyguard

When December 24, birthday of Kim Jong Suk, an anti-Japanese heroine, comes round every year, the service personnel and people in the Democratic People's Republic of Korea visit her statues erected in all parts of the country, carrying flower bouquets.

Standing before the statues in high reverence for her, they reflect the ennobling sense of loyalty cherished by Kim Jong Suk, who became a human fortress and shield to safeguard Kim Il Sung during the bloody anti-Japanese war for Korea's liberation.

Since she took part in anti-Japanese armed struggle in her early years she defended Kim Il Sung whom all the Korean people held up high as the sun of the nation, at the cost of her life. There are countless stories about her exploits, and typical is the battle of Dashahe.

In June Juche 29 (1940) the Japanese imperialists enlisted massive troops in "punitive" operations against the Korean People's Revolutionary Army, its main target being the KPRA Headquarters.

The main unit of the KPRA led by Kim Il Sung was conducting military activities in the area of Antu County, China, when it suddenly encountered the Japanese "new army," one of the most vicious troops.

Immediately analyzing the prevailing circumstances and the features of the terrain, Kim Il Sung ordered the unit to gain the superiority of firepower over the enemy, while all the guerrillas rushing towards a height. Then he commanded the battle from a rock on the ridge of the mountain.
